Prof. Dr. Martin Peitz and Prof. Volker Nocke, Ph.D. have been named members of the European Commission's Economic Advisory Group on Competition Policy (EAGCP)

Martin Peitz, professor for applied economics, and Volker Nocke, professor for microeconomics at the Mannheim Department of Economics have been named members of the European Commission's Economic Advisory Group on Competition Policy (EAGCP) by the EU commissioner and vice president, Joaquin Almunia.

The EAGCP creates a discussion forum on competition policy matters between academics who have a recognised reputation in the field of industrial organisation. Members represent different fields of research and academic research centres in Europe. Its main purpose is to support DG Competition in improving the economic reasoning in competition policy analysis. EAGCP members have been proposed by the Chief Competition Economist, Massimo Motta.
